More than a reporting platform

Portus is designed with an advanced data acquisition layer that allows the application to tap into all of your key business systems and bring that information into one unified platform.

Supplier Data

Portus integrates real time feeds of product availability and pricing information from the largest North American electronics component distributors so that you can see part availability from both inside your business and at your suppliers in one unified report.

Connect to your suppliers to check part availability and compare prices:

- Arrow
- Avnet
- Future
- TTI
- DigiKey
- Mouser

Build Your Competitive Advantage

Portus creates a measurable competitive advantage for manufacturers who build to a complex BoM, including electronics, semiconductor equipment and telecom companies, OEMs and EMS providers.

Customer Portal

With Portus you can provide self-service analytics and reporting to your customers in an elegant, branded web experience. Instead of answering phone calls or emails with simple questions from your customers, you can provide them a self-service Customer Portal where they can get to the information that they need when they need it, increasing customer satisfaction and improving internal efficiencies at the same time.

Minimum-risk Sales Model

The Portus sales model is specifically engineered for immediate payback and to minimize risk. There are no large upfront investments or long-term commitments.

You pay for Portus on a monthly subscription basis and can cancel at any time. As a result you have a built-in mechanism to reassess your investment decision every month.

We are confident that once you start using Portus, the investment rationale will be self-evident and that it will be an integral part of your overall tool chest for success.
